With a mission that has been changing, so too have the efforts to address environmental issues since the late 1970s. Environmentalists have become more aggressive, more vocal, and more successful in their advocacy. This year's election of Barack Obama has given them hope that they can continue to make progress.

The last and most important factor in determining the performance of a plant is the quality of its management. Management is the art of getting the best out of people and resources. It involves planning, organizing, leading, and controlling. The quality of management determines the success or failure of a plant. Good management leads to efficiency, productivity, and profitability. Poor management leads to inefficiency, waste, and loss of profits.

2009 by 11.3% in real terms. In this period the average household bill increased by 10.5%.<sup>1</sup> Using the Office for National Statistics' (ONS) latest data, we find that the average household bill per unit of electricity supplied in 2009 was £10.60 per kWh.<sup>2</sup> This is up 11.3% from £9.50 per kWh in 2008, and has risen by 21.5% since 2002 (£8.80 per kWh).<sup>3</sup> The cost of electricity has risen at a faster rate than inflation over this period.<sup>4</sup> This suggests that households have experienced a significant increase in their electricity bills.

To address this variability, we opted to apply a distance metric to each of the points and then to use a k-nearest neighbor (kNN) classifier to predict the class of each point. We chose the Euclidean distance metric because it has been shown to be effective in this context.

However, the in vitro results of the present study indicate that the effect of the diet on the growth performance of broiler chickens is mainly due to the reduction of weight loss in the first week of age. The growth performance of broiler chickens fed the diet containing 10% in vitro digestible protein was similar to that of the control diet. This is in contrast to the results of other studies that found that the growth performance of broiler chickens fed diets containing 10% in vitro digestible protein was lower than that of the control diet (Dekker et al., 1998; Gao et al., 2000).

It is this aspect of the law that has led to a call for legislation to increase it to a 10% contribution limit, but a push to increase it to 15% of the gross. This would be a welcome addition to the law as it would encourage more people to contribute to their superannuation. It is also the case that the government will call for a review of the pension system in the next few years, so it is important to keep an eye on the changes.
